

MORGAN REACHED FOR THE B. & O.

Was Willing to Make a Loan for Absolute Control of the Property.

President Cowen, Negotiated with the Banker for Easier Terms Up to Last Saturday.

DIRECTORS CHOSE BANKRUPTCY.

The Shares Dropped from 22 1/2 to 16 1/2 Yesterday, Closing at 18 5/8—Secret Sale of $1,000,000 Western Union Held by the B. & O.

Baltimore, Md., March 2.—President John K. Cowen, of the Baltimore & Ohio, was in New York during most of last week trying to negotiate a loan with J. P. Morgan & Co. for the company.

J. Pierpont Morgan was willing to see the Baltimore & Ohio through its financial crisis, but he demanded concessions which the Baltimore directors were not willing to grant. The banker made it a condition of the loan that the firm was to have either absolute control of the Baltimore & Ohio property, such control to be secured to it through a pooling of the majority of the stock into a voting trust, to be placed in the firm's hands for a term of years, or it was to direct the policy of the company through the Board of Directors.

To this end he demanded the retirement of certain members of the Board, their places to be taken by directors suggested by the firm, and no director unsatisfactory to the firm to be admitted.

This was the status of affairs when Mr. Cowen returned from New York last Friday, and it was laid before some of the largest holders of the Baltimore & Ohio stock. These stockholders, it is said, took the position that as between a control of the property by Morgan & Co. and a receivership, which might ultimately result in the retention of the road's control in local hands, the Baltimore interests preferred a receivership.

Further communication with Morgan & Co. was suggested, and on Saturday a message was sent to the firm asking if it could modify its demands in giving assistance to the road. The firm refused to recede from its former position, and with no other recourse left in which to raise funds for current and pressing needs, the company was forced to the wall.

Wilmington, Del., March 2.—Judge Wales in the United States Court this morning signed a decree appointing Oscar G. Murray and John K. Cowen, receivers of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in the State of Delaware. The application for a receivership was made by Andrew E. Sanborn, representing the Mercantile Trust Company of New York, holders of $1,000,000 promissory note made by the Baltimore and Ohio Company. Levi C. Bird, represented the company.

Baltimore and Ohio stock closed at 22 1/2 Saturday and dropped to 16 1/2 yesterday, closing at 18 5/8. Baltimore and Ohio 5 per cent bonds of the issue of 1888, depreciated two points to 92, and first mortgage 6 per cent bonds of the Pittsburgh and Western declined six points to 65.

Information came from semi-official sources that $1,000,000 worth of the Western Union stock, held by the Baltimore and Ohio Company, had been sold more than a year ago. This sale, it is claimed, was not even told to the directors at the time, and did not come to light until the accounts were investigated after the New York directors took office.

It is estimated that the total floating debts of the Baltimore and Ohio proper, amount to about $4,000,000. The obligations incurred on account of subsidiary lines are estimated to amount $12,000,000. Fully $7,000,000 will be required to purchase necessary equipments with which to do business, and put a little life into the physical condition of a property upon which practically nothing has been spent during four years.

Railroad experts estimate that with proper equipment the gross earnings of the road could be increased $3,000,000 a year.

The offices of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at No. 2 Wall street, it was said that the Pittsburgh & Western Railway, which the Baltimore & Ohio acquired in 1891, had been placed in the hands of a receiver by the Pittsburgh courts. The appointee is Thomas M. King, the president of the road. The Baltimore & Ohio owns $6,000,000 of the Pittsburgh & Western stock.

Erasmus Wiman, who is credited with having much to do with the Baltimore & Ohio's acquisition of the Rapid Transit Line, said yesterday: "It is a good thing that the Baltimore & Ohio has been sold. If the property could be wrested from their hands some improvements could be made in the road which would be of benefit to the Island. The Baltimore & Ohio have practically done nothing to keep the property up since they secured it."

Judge Lacombe, sitting in the United States Circuit Court, in this city, yesterday appointed John K. Cowen and Oscar G. Murray as ancillary receivers of the Baltimore & Ohio property in this State. Word comes from Philadelphia that the same receivers were appointed by the Circuit Court in that city.

SNOW AND HIGH WINDS.

March Came in Like a Lion, a Blizzard Prevailing—New York the Storm Centre.

There was enough cold, energetic wind blowing through New York's streets yesterday to supply a national political convention for days. The storm that made its centre of operations in this city let itself loose to help distribute the eight inches of snow deposited during the early morning. March had come in like a roaring lion, thereby giving implicit promise that it would attack the lion. At 6 o'clock in the evening the wind blew the great gusts at an average rate of sixty miles an hour.

When people awoke in the morning and looked out to see the blinding feathery flakes hurrying roofs and chimney tops in whirlwinds, they assured themselves that the great March blizzard of 1888 was to be repeated. There was a settled intent apparent in the wind which would be to drop cold omens. But at 10 o'clock the flakes dropped weakly and began to melt in the air. Then the sun came out brightly and a wind rose.

On the Sixth avenue, Ninth avenue, Fourth and Madison avenue and Avenue B four horses were attached to every car that went out of the stables, and the snow ploughs were all out clearing the streets.

Weather Forecaster Dunn described the storm yesterday as centering in the Middle Atlantic States, and New England, with the heaviest snow falling in the latter.

Between 6 and 10 o'clock yesterday morning the temperature here fell fifteen degrees. The graph compasses suffered only slightly.

The Cat Show at Madison Square Garden Will Open This Morning.

Nearly two hundred cats have been received and will be on exhibition to-day and the remainder of the week. The animals are all well-bred, and some of them are very valuable. Costly prizes have been offered by citizens and clubs. Well-known society women are the patronesses of the show.

TABBIES TO BE ON VIEW.

Second Annual Cat Show Will Open at Madison Square Garden To-day.

Nearly Two Hundred Highly Bred Animals of All Descriptions Will Be in the Cages.

MANY VALUABLE PRIZES OFFERED.

The Show to Be Continued Five Days. Well Known Society People Acting as Patronesses and on the Advisory Committee.

While the second annual Cat Show, which will open to-day at Madison Square Garden, is a great disappointment to the management and to its patrons in point of numbers, the quality and condition of the cats entered are far above those of last year. So few feathered beauties were entered for the annex show that it was decided almost at the last moment not to hold any cage bird exhibition this year in the concert hall.

Less than two hundred of the high-priced poodles, long and short haired, Angora, Persian and Manx, are comfortably housed in roomy wire cages, decorated with ribbons and flowers and palms. These are upon six long rows of tables, and flank the little temporary stage, on which the trick cats in a troupe of twenty will perform three or four times each day during the week of the show.

T. Farrar Rackham and Dr. Rush S. Haddock are the judges. They will award $1,500 in cash prizes, and thirty special prizes and medals of merit.

The show will open at 10 o'clock on the morning of each of the five days, closing at 11:30 in the evening. There are three prizes in each class: $8 for the first, $4 for the second and $2 for the third.

Short-haired cats will be examined first. In this order: Tortoise shell or tortoise blue and white; brown or dark gray tabby; silver or blue tabby; red tabby, or red tabby and white; black, white, blue or silver solid color, or other variety.

The long-haired cats will follow. Then will come the Manx cats, wild cats, ocular and lynxes. There are fifty-four classes.

These special prizes are offered: Mrs. Richard B. Pratt, a silver bowl for the best long-haired cat in classes 25 to 30.

Charles B. Pratt, a silver bowl for the best long-haired cat in classes 31 to 45, classes 37 to 40 excepted.

James T. Hyde, $10 in plate for the best long-haired cat in classes 46 to 54, excepted.

Charles F. Bates, $10 in plate for the best short-haired kitten in classes 9 to 24, 18 and 19 excepted; $10 in plate for the largest and best exhibit of cats made by any one exhibitor.

The Madison Square Garden Company, $10 in plate for the largest and heaviest cat in the show.

The National Cat Show, $10 in plate for the best short-haired kitten, not over six months old.

$10 in plate for cat and best litter of kittens not under one month old.

T. Farrar Rackham, $10 in plate for the best exhibit of cats by any one exhibitor, more than two of Walnut Ridge Farm's stock.

By Walnut Ridge Farm, one box walnut cat food for best short-haired cat in the show.

The patronesses are Mrs. J. J. Astor, Mrs. Richard B. Pratt, Mrs. Richard B. Pratt and Mrs. J. J. Astor, Mrs. Richard B. Pratt, Mrs. Richard B. Pratt and Mrs. J. J. Astor.

The Advisory Committee is as follows: Frederic Bronson, F. O. De Luse, J. G. K. Duer, Cornelius Fellows, John G. Hecksher, H. H. Hollister, Thomas Hitchcock, Charles Lanier, D. O. Mills, J. Pierpont Morgan, A. Newbold Morris, Hermann Oelrichs, F. K. Sturgis, George Penobly, W. F. Wharton and Stanford White.

The pupils of the Mt. Vernon public schools are to give a concert at Chokinging Hall, Baltimore, on March 15. The soloists will be Mrs. Emma Jack, soprano; Ericson F. Bushnell, tenor; and William F. Dugan, bass.

The performance will be under the direction of Alfred Hallam.

Mr. O. Howard promises to give an interesting lecture in the Pilgrim Congregational Church, one hundred and twenty-second street, on Thursday evening, March 5. His subject will be on "Sherman's March to the Sea."

The Packard Political Science Club will be inaugurated this evening at 8 o'clock at the college rooms. Speeches are to be made by Mayor Strong, Chancellor M. Depew, the Rev. Dr. MacArthur and Mr. Packard.

The Irish Nationalists and Irish National Alliance of New York are making preparations for a monster meeting, to be held in Cooper Union to-morrow night in honor of the one hundred and eightieth anniversary of the birth of Robert Emmet. John E. Fitzgerald will deliver the oration, and Morgan J. O'Brien will give the address.

Between 6 and 10 o'clock yesterday morning the temperature here fell fifteen degrees. The graph compasses suffered only slightly.

NEW BRIDGE BILL SIGNED.

No Legal Obstacle Now Exists to the Construction of the Proposed North River Span.

A hearing on the New York and New Jersey Bridge was heard in the Mayor's office yesterday afternoon. A bill recently passed by the Legislature extending the time for building to ten years.

Charles H. Swan, in behalf of the company, said that it was considered necessary to have the Legislature accord them the same privilege which Congress and the State of New Jersey had given, that is, until 1906 to complete the structure. He has no doubt it could be finished in less than that time, but looking at the enormous amount of detail yet to be gone through, the securing of property for the approaches between Forty-ninth and Fifty-first streets and the probable delays of condemnation proceedings, it had been decided to ask for the ten years.

Much of the preliminary work in connection with the approach was thrown away. The Sinking Fund Commissioners in refusing them the approaches at Seventy-second street and Forty-second street and giving them the central position, while shortening their structure, had possibly given them more work in the matter of securing property.

By the time the structure was finished, with yards and termini complete to Broadway, Mr. Swan said it would cost in the neighborhood of $50,000,000.

The expected opposition from the West Side Citizens' Guild did not appear and after thirty minutes the Mayor declared the hearing closed and approved the bill.

HER STORY NOT BELIEVED.

A Little Country Girl's Strange Account of Cruelty and Neglect Which the Police Doubt.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children in Brooklyn have in charge a pretty, interesting and, if the harrowing tale she tells can be believed, a particularly unfortunate little country girl.

She sought charity and comfort from her relatives in that city, and found, she claims, only abuse and neglect. The little one's name is Anna Amelia Morford, and she comes from Charleston, Pa. She is eleven years old, and claims to be a native of that State.

Anna was brought to the Fourth Precinct Police Station yesterday morning by a relative of Mrs. G. Kamp, of No. 244 De Kalb avenue, who explained that at 6:30 o'clock in the morning the little one appeared at Mrs. Kamp's door and begged for shelter.

The police turned the child over to the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and an investigation of her story was begun.

The investigation developed the fact that Little Anna is either woefully ignorant of her relatives' identity and her own, or that she is lying, or that she is not telling the truth. No one on Myrtle avenue within two or three blocks brooked the girl's story.

The police turned the child over to the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and an investigation of her story was begun.

The investigation developed the fact that Little Anna is either woefully ignorant of her relatives' identity and her own, or that she is lying, or that she is not telling the truth. No one on Myrtle avenue within two or three blocks brooked the girl's story.

The police turned the child over to the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and an investigation of her story was begun.

The investigation developed the fact that Little Anna is either woefully ignorant of her relatives' identity and her own, or that she is lying, or that she is not telling the truth. No one on Myrtle avenue within two or three blocks brooked the girl's story.

The police turned the child over to the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and an investigation of her story was begun.

The investigation developed the fact that Little Anna is either woefully ignorant of her relatives' identity and her own, or that she is lying, or that she is not telling the truth. No one on Myrtle avenue within two or three blocks brooked the girl's story.

The police turned the child over to the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and an investigation of her story was begun.

The investigation developed the fact that Little Anna is either woefully ignorant of her relatives' identity and her own, or that she is lying, or that she is not telling the truth. No one on Myrtle avenue within two or three blocks brooked the girl's story.

The police turned the child over to the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and an investigation of her story was begun.

The investigation developed the fact that Little Anna is either woefully ignorant of her relatives' identity and her own, or that she is lying, or that she is not telling the truth. No one on Myrtle avenue within two or three blocks brooked the girl's story.

The police turned the child over to the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and an investigation of her story was begun.

The investigation developed the fact that Little Anna is either woefully ignorant of her relatives' identity and her own, or that she is lying, or that she is not telling the truth. No one on Myrtle avenue within two or three blocks brooked the girl's story.

The police turned the child over to the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and an investigation of her story was begun.

The investigation developed the fact that Little Anna is either woefully ignorant of her relatives' identity and her own, or that she is lying, or that she is not telling the truth. No one on Myrtle avenue within two or three blocks brooked the girl's story.

The police turned the child over to the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and an investigation of her story was begun.

The investigation developed the fact that Little Anna is either woefully ignorant of her relatives' identity and her own, or that she is lying, or that she is not telling the truth. No one on Myrtle avenue within two or three blocks brooked the girl's story.

The police turned the child over to the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and an investigation of her story was begun.

The investigation developed the fact that Little Anna is either woefully ignorant of her relatives' identity and her own, or that she is lying, or that she is not telling the truth. No one on Myrtle avenue within two or three blocks brooked the girl's story.

The police turned the child over to the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and an investigation of her story was begun.

The investigation developed the fact that Little Anna is either woefully ignorant of her relatives' identity and her own, or that she is lying, or that she is not telling the truth. No one on Myrtle avenue within two or three blocks brooked the girl's story.

OLCOTT IN A NEW PART.

The Irish Comedian Seen in Fred Marsden's "The Minstrel of Clare."

Theresa Vaughn's Great Hit as "Little Christopher" at the Grand Opera House.

WILLIAM H. CRANE IN HARLEM.

"The Governor of Kentucky" Well Received There—Change in Features at the Concert and Music Halls and Vaudeville Theatres.

Chaucer Olcott, the singing comedian, made his first appearance in "The Minstrel of Clare," by the late Fred Marsden, at the Fourteenth Street Theatre last night.

Larry O'Lynn, the jolly, whole-hearted young lover, vocalist and general find to all, Mr. Olcott made a good impression.

His singing of "Love Will Remain the Same," "Home Song," "The Minstrel Boy," "The Young Rose" and "Rory Darling" was enthusiastically applauded. The star was assisted by Daniel Giffen, Luke Martin, Frank Peters, Berta Bambridge, Kitty Coleman and Dot Clarendon. Later in the week the Journal will review the play at length.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE. One of E. E. Rice's greatest successes, "Little Christopher," was seen at the Grand Opera House last night.

Theresa Vaughn, in the title role, made a distinct hit, and Willis Collier, as the chief maker, was equal to his role. The play is handsomely staged and costumed, and the entire company is to the last.

Richard, the Oriental dancer, Western Brothers, musical jinks; Hayden and Hetherington, Nellie Maguire, Nestor and Williams and the Free Press Quartet.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE. George Lockhart's comedy elephants excited the wonderment and merriment of a large audience at Proctor's Theatre yesterday.

They do surprising tricks and are as obedient as soldiers. John W. Ransome and his troupe, the Night Tom Platt Struck High C," and it scored a tremendous hit. The words are remarkably clever and the music is of the highest quality.

One of the most realistic and interesting melodramas of the present season is "The Cotton King," which was produced at Sanford's Third Avenue Theatre last night.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

employs novel electrical effects and her dances are wonderfully picturesque. The new cathode rays are also introduced with startling results. Carl Hertz presented a new illusion entitled "After the Flood," which is even more mysterious than his previous efforts. "Marguerite," of course, remains the chief attraction, and the pretty opera and ballet is nightly applauded to the echo. The vaudeville features remain unchanged, save that the performers introduce new specialties.

TONY PASTORS. The Russell Brothers presented their new sketch, "The Two Off-Us," at Tony Pastors' Theatre last night. James Russell, as Louise, the blind girl, was intensely amusing. The long bill included Falke and Schor, musical comedians; O'Brien and Havel, in "The Newsboy's Courtship"; Johnny Carroll, descriptive vocalist; Fields and Lewis, in "The Newsboy's Courtship"; Harry Stork, Major Newell, Virgil Bernard and the only Tony Pastor.

GAUDY. An enjoyable bill was offered at Doris's Gaudy Theatre yesterday, the features of which were John D. Gilbert and Gus Pixley, of "The Passing Show" company; who made their continuous performance debut. Both were heartily welcomed and their quaint stories and songs made them prime favorites. Among other attractions were the Murray Brothers, in a musical sketch; a troupe of Japanese, in a novel sketch; the sublimity of Misses Lear and Ditt, Eleanor Falk, Gertie Gilson and the Burroughs.

EIGHTH AVENUE. Twenty well-known and clever artists comprised the performers with Flynn and Sheridan's big show, which drew a large audience to Miner's Eighth Avenue Theatre last night. Juliette Nelson, the high wire performer, was a feature of the bill, and the remainder consisted of Dunn and Nicolai, H. Tom Ward, Prince Flatow, Sydney and Evelyn, and Mrs. Farrell, in a cake walking act.

BOWERY. The American Vaudeville Company, headed by Oia Hayden, the woman baritone, appeared at Miner's Bowery Theatre last night. Others on the excellent bill comprised Alvin, the card king; Gul Bahar, the Oriental dancer; Western Brothers, musical jinks; Hayden and Hetherington, Nellie Maguire, Nestor and Williams and the Free Press Quartet.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE. George Lockhart's comedy elephants excited the wonderment and merriment of a large audience at Proctor's Theatre yesterday.

They do surprising tricks and are as obedient as soldiers. John W. Ransome and his troupe, the Night Tom Platt Struck High C," and it scored a tremendous hit. The words are remarkably clever and the music is of the highest quality.

One of the most realistic and interesting melodramas of the present season is "The Cotton King," which was produced at Sanford's Third Avenue Theatre last night.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage setting. The heroine's escape from the clutches of a villain is a fine piece of stage setting.

The play is a story of a man who, with the operators at work is a fine piece of stage